Out and about in

Comments from our CEO

Dear PWI Family,

The phrase “Out and About in the Community” is ringing true throughout our four PWI offices these days. This week we were pleased to host the CEO of an international software company interested in hiring a PWI Client for their San Diego location. We were excited to learn that this will be a pilot project for their 10+ locations across the globe. He strongly believes that what are perceived as disabilities are actually an asset to his business. The CEO stressed the importance of collaborating with businesses that truly want to have PWI Clients. This is an exciting opportunity for PWI and our Clients. PWI works diligently to place individuals in community-based positions so they can increase their potential, purpose and pride, which impacts the Clients as well as their families.

PWI Star of the Month: Cameron Cagle

Cameron Cagle, our July "Star of the Month", has been successfully employed with Home Depot in East County for nearly 6 years. Cameron persisted and worked diligently, recently earning his Forklift Certificate. Cameron's Supported Employment Manager, Shannon, says, "He is a wonderful, friendly team member at Home Depot who has enjoyed increased responsibilities over the years, has grown in his position and also grown tremendously in his independence".

Thank you to Home Depot for hiring and empowering Cameron along with many other PWI clients at various locations through San Diego County. Cameron, we wish you the continued success in your position at Home Depot. Keep up your hard work and determination, and you will continue to shine in the workplace.

Support other PWI clients so they too can make their dreams of success and independence come true, AND wear a smile from ear to ear, just like Cameron.
